THE CHRISTIAN MARTYRS
This is a dramatic tragedy of early Rome, a story woven around the life of Empress Faustina, the mother of Nero.

THE BIRTH OF CHRIST
This story needs no detailed account. The picture follows the Bible story closely and is a very fine picture.

THE DAUGHTER OF THE SIOUX
A great big Indian picture produced on the Western Plains with real Sioux Indians and enlisted U. S. regulars.

TO SAVE HER SOUL
The romance of a little choir singer, vividly portraying the lure of the Bohemian life.

THE INDIAN
Another big Indian story of the Southwest 50 years ago.

Plenty of good comic, pretty songs and new music.

SERIOUSLY INJURED BOY

L. Jean Haight, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haight, of 2532 Lincoln avenue, met with a painful and serious accident last Sunday, while coasting on Twenty-seventh street.

He was steering a hobsled, occupied by a number of his friends. When near the foot of the hill he lost control and his companions were thrown violently against a tree. Jean was the only one to receive anything like serious injuries, but the others were more or less bruised.

Young Haight had to be carried home and a physician was summoned to attend him. It was discovered that he had suffered internal injuries in and about the kidneys. He is now lying in bed unable to move. The doctors have cautioned him that he must not move his body until the ligaments holding the kidneys are permitted to again grow to their proper places. The boy is somewhat better today.

WRESTLING CONTEST IS TONIGHT

Stanley Karp, of Salt Lake City, and Gus Anderson, the Kansas City crack, will wrestle for the championship of the middle states, tonight, in the new Ogden theater. The winner will meet Yokel, the champion, at 155 pounds for the country. The match will be decided on the basis of two out of three falls. There will be a fast preliminary between Ferguson, of Ogden, and Dean, of Salt Lake. The bell will ring at 8:30 o'clock.

SHORTAGE IN THE COAL SUPPLY

While the output of coal at Rock Springs, Superior and adjacent coal camps is normal, railroad officials admit that the continued cold weather along the Union Pacific system is seriously delaying the movement of coal. As a result of this condition there is a growing shortage of coal at Ogden and adjacent points, and many dealers find it embarrassing to fill fuel orders as promptly as patrons demand. There is nothing in the nature of a coal famine, however, and with the advent of a change in climatic conditions, railroad officials say that plenty of coal will move in this direction from the various Wyoming mines.

SECOND DAY OF MURDER TRIAL

The second day of the trial of Clarence Ernst, charged with the murder of Charles Staples on the night of the 15th of last May, was devoid of sensational incident and even less interesting than on Wednesday. Aside from court officials, attorneys interested in the case, the prisoner, his wife and a few friends, perhaps half a dozen colored men, the court room was empty this morning when the case was called.

Late yesterday afternoon, Henry Page, another colored man, was placed in the witness chair and detailed unimportant evidence relative to the quarrel over cards at Ernst's place. It was brought out in the cross-examination of Page that he saw a knife in Staples' possession the night of the tragedy, but he did not observe defendant attempt to use the weapon. William Hall, the colored waiter from Salt Lake, was recalled to the stand, and during the examination he admitted that Staples had the reputation among colored men of being quarrelsome and was apparently disgruntled on the night of the wrangle and quarrel at Ernst's saloon.

Harry Hales, clerk of the district court, was also placed on the stand and testified in regard to the records in the case.

District Attorney Testifies.

This morning District Attorney Harris took the witness stand and the entire forenoon session of court was occupied in reading the testimony of James Howell and James Terrell, as adduced at the preliminary examination of Ernst before Judge Murphy of the municipal court. The reading of the evidence was monotonous in the extreme and his honor suggested that a recess be taken while District Attorney Harris and defendant's counsel examine the great wad of evidence and eliminate the unimportant matter therein.

The testimony of the several witnesses for the state, as the depositions of Harvell and Terrell, was all favorable to the defendant, brought out the fact that Staples was quarrelsome and violent at times and addicted to liquor and gambling, every ready for a row in which he was usually successful over his opponent—using stones, bricks and a gun to score a victory or to enforce an argument.

ARE FROZEN TO DEATH

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—The storm of the last few days in the country along the Minneapolis, St. Paul &

Sault Ste. Marie railroad has resulted in seven deaths.

A little boy was found dead in a haystack south of Yellow Grass. Beside him were found his two sisters, who had been kept warm by the boy and were living.
